Racism Schmacism: How Liberals Use the "R" Word to Push the Obama Agenda James Edwards

In this timely and much needed book, James Edwards exposes how liberals, the media and race hustlers use the word "racist" to neutralize any effective conservative opposition to Obama's policies. Edwards pulls no punches as he convincingly demonstrates exactly how the left employs this tactic, and shows how conservatives roll over and play dead nearly every time. Most conservatives think the way to defend against the charge of "racism" is to loudly and incessantly insist that they're NOT racists, and that their church is integrated, they have lots of black and brown friends, etc, and to pack their podium with token black and Hispanic conservatives to "prove" how non-racist they are. Wrong answer, folks! As Edwards devastatingly proves, this response plays right into the hand of the liberals, and gets conservatives nowhere. Conservatives are handcuffed and handicapped because they haven't yet grasped that when race hustlers, the media and other left wingers use the word "racist", the word doesn't mean what it used to mean. These days, "racist" simply means a conservative white person, as Edwards demonstrates beyond any shadow of a doubt. Using nothing but facts, and liberals' own words, Edwards makes it crystal clear that no matter what conservative white people say or do, they're "racist" in the eyes of people like Al Sharpton and Keith Olbermann, and until they realize this, and stop worrying about being called "racist", the conservative movement is going nowhere. Racism Schmacism is a breath of fresh air in today's political environment, because, unlike many conservative best seller, it doesn't pass off watered down liberalism as conservatism out of fear of tackling the explosive issues of race and racism. But more than that, the book is also a prescription - the cure for a disease which has the conservative movement on its deathbed. Read this timely (and often hilarious) book today, and lets' start building a conservative movement that can win!
